SUMMARY

Final-year B.Tech CSE student skilled in Python for developing data-driven applications. I have practical experience during academic project implementation in designing backend services, managing databases (MongoDB, MySQL), and building working systems that integrate core Python logic with user interfaces.

PROJECTS

MindCare – Emotion Classification Web App

Jan'25 - Present

- Developed a web app to classify mental health text into anger, stress, and anxiety using DistilBERT. Implemented Flask backend, HTML/CSS/JavaScript frontend, and also integrated APIs for personalized recommendations (music, place, food to eat) and deployed a real-time inference system for interactive user feedback.

Chat Application

May'24 - Jun'24

- The chat application project aims to create a user-friendly real-time communication platform using HTML, CSS, and JavaScript for the frontend, with Firebase providing secure authentication and a real-time database, enabling seamless user registration, login, and instant messaging.
